He has published three full volumes of poetry and his poetic work is found in dozens of anthologies as well. Harry is recognized as a local poet and has done hundreds of eulogies, tributes, and major event poems. A community leader with his finger on the pulse of both the institutional and art worlds of Las Vegas, he practices kindness as philosophy. His family is the most important thing in the world to him.

Todd R. Fasulo

Senior Vice President of Security, Corporate Investigations, Surveillance, and Crisis Management
Wynn/Encore Hotel Casino Las Vegas

Todd Fasulo joined Wynn/Encore in early 2018 after retiring from the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department as an Assistant Sheriff following 27 years of service. He has more than 34 years of law enforcement experience, including service with the FBI, U.S. Army, and LVMPD. Before retiring, he commanded more than 2,300 employees and managed more than $300 million of the department's annual budget. He also helped supervise the investigation into the Route 91 Harvest Festival shooting on October 1, 2017. His honors include the Meritorious Service Award for his response to the September 11 terrorist attack in New York City while assigned to the Nevada FEMA team, and a Unit Citation of Valorous Conduct during the Rodney King riots.

Todd has consulted and taught on policing topics at more than 60 police departments across the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. His guest-speaking topics include current policing best practices, leadership, misconduct, internal affairs, and officer use-of-force issues. His professional education includes graduation from Northwestern University's Police Command and Staff School in 2007 and the MCCA Police Executive Leadership Institute in 2016. He also attended the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, and Columbia Southern University. Beyond his teaching and education, Todd has served on the LVMPD Foundation Board of Directors since 2017 and currently serves as a voting member of the State of Nevada Homeland Security Commission, representing the resort corridor.

Todd currently supervises one of the largest private security operations on the Las Vegas Strip, with responsibility for Security, Corporate Investigations, Surveillance, and the Crisis Management and Response section. The security department includes more than 500 security officers and protects Wynn and Encore hotel/casino guests and more than 13,000 employees through layers of physical and technological safety protocols. His responsibilities also encompass security for Wynn's three nightclubs and dayclubs, which attract thousands of visitors each year.

Wynn and Encore in Las Vegas are part of Wynn Resorts, which holds more Forbes Travel Guide Five-Star Awards than any other independent hotel company in the world. The resort offers award-winning restaurants, entertainment and nightlife, two award-winning spas, salons, and luxury shopping. Its commitment is to make every guest visit a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Connor Fields

Three-Time Olympian, World Champion and NBC Broadcaster

Connor Fields is a three-time Olympian, two-time World Champion, and the only American to win Olympic gold in BMX Racing. He has represented the United States more than fifty times in over twenty-five countries.

At the 2021 Tokyo Games, he slammed into the track in a 40 mph collision. A traumatic brain injury left him unconscious for five days, fighting for his life. Connor is the only Olympian to both conquer the Games and nearly die competing in them.

Today, Connor is an Emmy Award-winning member of the NBC broadcast team, serves on the board of USA Cycling, and coaches the next generation of BMX riders. He delivers his keynote, The Move Forward Mindset, motivating audiences to keep moving forward after wins, losses, and sudden change.

Prior to law enforcement, she spent ten years managing emergency management programs in the gaming and hospitality sector. Nicole earned her degree in Criminal Justice from UNLV and completed executive leadership training through Harvard University’s National Preparedness Leadership Initiative.

Troy Helgerson

Vice President of Operations
MountainView Hospital

Troy Helgerson is a healthcare executive, U.S. Air Force veteran, and Vice President of Operations at MountainView Hospital in Las Vegas, Nevada. With more than 20 years of healthcare leadership experience, Troy brings a unique perspective shaped by military service, frontline clinical care, and executive leadership.

Throughout his career, Troy has held progressive leadership roles at HCA Healthcare and Intermountain Health, building high-performing teams, improving employee engagement, and leading complex healthcare operations. His experience spans organizational development, strategic growth, workforce engagement, and patient and employee safety.

Having worked his way from frontline caregiver to hospital executive, Troy brings a practical perspective on the challenges and responsibilities of leadership. His experience reinforces the importance of building trust, developing people, fostering accountability, and creating environments where individuals and teams can thrive.

Troy holds an MBA in Healthcare Management from Western Governors University.

Jose Hernandez

Deputy Chief, Professional Standards Division
Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department

Deputy Chief Jose Hernandez is a United States Marine Corps veteran and accomplished law enforcement executive whose leadership philosophy is rooted in service, humility, integrity, and a genuine commitment to developing others.

With more than two decades of experience with the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department, Hernandez has built his career on the belief that leadership is not defined by rank, title, or authority, but by the positive influence a leader has on the people entrusted to their care.

Currently serving as Deputy Chief of the Professional Standards Division, Hernandez provides executive leadership focused on organizational accountability, professional excellence, and strengthening public trust.

Previously, he served as Deputy Chief of the Tourist Safety Division, where he was responsible for more than 750 patrol officers serving one of the nation’s most prominent tourism destinations.

Throughout his career, Hernandez has served in a wide range of assignments, including criminal investigations, patrol operations, community policing, recruiting, emergency communications, and executive leadership. Each assignment has reinforced his belief that the most effective leaders are those who remain grounded in their experiences, understand the challenges faced by their personnel, and never forget where they came from.

A passionate advocate for servant leadership, Hernandez believes that rank should never create distance between a leader and the people they serve. Rather, increased responsibility should bring greater humility, accountability, and a deeper commitment to supporting others.

He emphasizes that leaders must remain approachable, listen with genuine interest, lead by example, and never lose sight of the experiences and individuals who helped shape their journey. He believes that regardless of how high someone rises within an organization, they should always remember what it was like to stand in the shoes of those they now lead.

Hernandez is particularly committed to mentoring and developing the next generation of law enforcement leaders. He believes that one of the greatest measures of leadership is not simply what an individual accomplishes during their tenure, but the strength, character, and success of the leaders they leave behind.

Hernandez holds a Bachelor of Science in Public Administration and an Associate of Applied Science in Criminal Justice.

From his early service in the United States Marine Corps to his current executive responsibilities, Hernandez remains guided by a leadership philosophy centered on a simple but powerful principle:

“Never forget where you came from, never forget the people who helped you get there, and never allow your rank to become more important than the people you have the privilege of leading.”

For Hernandez, leadership is not about being served. It is about having the privilege and responsibility to serve others.

Carnell Johnson

Singer and Musician

Born and raised in Las Vegas, Carnell Johnson is no stranger to seeing the limelight; he just never thought sports would be where he would find his! Having operatic training from UNLV and being a professional singer/musician for over 25 years (he also plays the piano, drums and guitar), he has sung in many different venues around town, big and small, and performed with the likes of Andrea Bocelli and Jennifer Hudson. Dan Lourenco

CEO and Co-Founder
GHOST

Dan Lourenco is the CEO and Co-Founder of GHOST, a global sports nutrition and energy brand known for its disruptive collaborations, ingredient transparency, and loyal community. Though fitness has always been a passion of his, Dan’s professional journey started outside the industry, as a commercial pilot and flight instructor in his early twenties, before he made the leap into sports nutrition.

A self-proclaimed cereal connoisseur and sneaker enthusiast, Dan teamed up with longtime friend and now Co-Founder, Ryan Hughes, to launch GHOST in 2016. What started as a self-funded venture on the floor of Dan’s apartment has grown into a category-defining lifestyle brand that resonates with consumers worldwide.

Under Dan’s leadership, GHOST has become known for industry-first brand collaborations, innovative content, and strategic partnerships with athletes and influencers. In October 2024, Dan and the team announced a majority sale to Keurig Dr Pepper, valuing the company at $1.65 billion, a milestone that underscores the brand’s rapid growth and cultural impact. And while the GHOST story is just getting started, Dan remains committed to creating a brand that helps people feel and perform their best - wherever they are in life.

William McCurdy II

Vice Chairman
Clark County Commission

Commissioner William McCurdy II was elected to the Clark County Commission in 2020 and sworn in for his first term on Jan. 4, 2021, and re-elected to his second term for 2025. He was selected by his peers to serve as vice-chairman of the Board of County Commissioners on Jan. 2, 2024. Commissioner McCurdy previously served two terms (2016-2020) in the Nevada State Legislature as the representative for Assembly District 6. Kelly McMahill

Retired Deputy Chief
Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department

Kelly McMahill is a retired deputy chief from the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (LVMPD) with over 25 years of law enforcement experience. Kelly started with LVMPD in 1996 and held the ranks of police officer, sergeant, lieutenant, captain and in 2021, was appointed by Sheriff Lombardo to the executive staff position of deputy chief of the Professional Standards Division. Prior to retiring, Kelly oversaw the Office of Human Resources, the Internal Affairs Bureau, the Police Employee Assistance Program, all department training, and COVID-19 employee wellness.

In 2012, Kelly was the chief liaison for the first ever Collaborative Reform Process between LVMPD and the Department of Justice, COPS Office. Kelly helped lead LVMPD in making sweeping cultural changes to policy, accountability, and transparency in police use of force. These changes continue to be implemented and improved upon today, safeguarding both law enforcement personnel and the community they serve.

Kelly oversaw the Internal Office of Constitutional Policing when tragedy struck Las Vegas on October 1, 2017, when a lone gunman killed 58 innocent people and injured over 850 others during a country concert. Kelly led the criminal investigation into the suspect's actions in coordination with the FBI. In the months that followed, she was assigned to design and co-author the 1 October After-Action Report, a comprehensive report detailing lessons learned in the aftermath of the worst mass shooting in United States history.

After retiring, Kelly started a consulting business and teaches mass violence protocols and victim care across the country. She authored an after-action report for the city of Waukesha, Wisconsin in the aftermath of their mass violence incident at a Christmas parade in 2021, authored an annex for victim care for Shelby County, Tennessee and is currently part of the monitoring team involved in the Consent Decree process with the Cleveland Police Department.

Kelly holds a bachelor's degree in administrative leadership from The University of Oklahoma. Her most fulfilling accomplishment in life is being the wife to Kevin, the current sheriff of LVMPD, mother to their five children and grandmother to three adorable grandbabies.

Kevin McMahill

Sheriff

Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department

Sheriff Kevin McMahill was sworn in as the 8th sheriff of the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department on Jan. 2, 2023. His renowned law enforcement career spans more than three decades of service at every level of the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (LVMPD).

After serving in the United States Army for three years, McMahill began his career with Metro in 1990 - starting as a patrol officer and later serving as a field training officer and member of the academy training staff. In 2001, he was promoted to sergeant holding various positions in Patrol, Training and Internal Affairs. In 2006, he was again promoted to the rank of lieutenant serving in Patrol, Narcotics and the Homeland Security Bureau.

In 2010, he was promoted to captain over the Bolden Area Command, which had some of the city’s highest crime rates. Building on the Safe Village initiative, he partnered with housing authorities, faith leaders, nonprofits, activists, and community stakeholders to reduce crime across all categories, including a 40% drop in overall violence. This historic achievement earned LVMPD the prestigious Webber-Seavey Award, the highest honor in community policing.

In 2011, McMahill was appointed to Deputy Chief of the Patrol Division where he supervised eight area commands. During that time, he was instrumental in expanding the innovative community policing programs he established at Bolden Area Command to all areas of the valley. These efforts would ultimately lead him to establish the Office of Community Engagement in 2015, which focuses solely on strengthening relationships with the community.

McMahill was then promoted to assistant sheriff in 2013, presiding over all operational aspects of the LVMPD. During his time as an assistant sheriff, McMahill held the department’s highest security clearance and worked closely with local and federal partners to oversee numerous high-profile cases.

McMahill was then promoted to undersheriff in 2014 by former Sheriff Doug Gillespie and he continued his service as the second-in-command under former sheriff, Joe Lombardo for six years. During his six years as undersheriff, McMahill provided strong and steady leadership to help our community through some of our biggest challenges, including the 1 October tragedy and the civil unrest that took place in 2020.

Since becoming Sheriff, McMahill established the Wellness Bureau to support employee wellness, serving about 450 officers, staff, families, and retirees each month with mental health and support services. He also launched the Drones Operations Bureau, a centralized command center that provides remote drone support, intelligence coordination, and real-time situational awareness for calls across the valley.

Michael Naft

Chairman
Clark County Board of Commissioners

Commissioner Naft was elected to a two-year term as Chairman of the Board by his fellow commissioners in January 2026. He has served District A since January 2019. He has prioritized traffic safety, improving emergency response times, animal welfare, and increasing travel and tourism to southern Nevada. He is a member of the Las Vegas Convention and Visitor's Authority Board of Directors, the County's Debt Management Commission, and the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Fiscal Affairs Committee; he is Chairman of the Big Bend Water District and Clark County Audit Committee.

In 2021, Commissioner Naft successfully improved ambulance response times by requiring underperforming ambulance companies to come into compliance. In 2022, he brought forth the Safe Sidewalk ordinance, requiring all future roadways 60 feet or more to have a detached sidewalk, improving safety and increasing property values. In 2024, he spearheaded the expansion of crossing guards at all Clark County middle schools; previously, guards were only required at elementary schools. In 2022, Commissioner Naft sponsored an ordinance banning the sale of dogs, cats, rabbits, and potbellied pigs in pet stores across unincorporated Clark County.

Prior to joining the Commission, Michael served the residents of Clark County as District Director to Congresswoman Dina Titus. In that role, he worked with hundreds of federal agencies, departments, and commissions overseeing outreach and constituent services for more than 700,000 Nevadans. He has worked and consulted for numerous local, state, and federal officials and advised several national and local nonprofit organizations. He attended the Las Vegas Academy of Performing Arts and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. Michael lives in Henderson with his wife, Dr. Lauren Naft, and their three children.

Sheree Page

Deputy Chief, Detention Services Division
Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department

Deputy Chief Sheree Page is a 29-year veteran of the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (LVMPD), currently overseeing the Detention Services Division. In her current role, she provides executive leadership and oversight to six bureaus: Administrative Operations, Central Booking, North Tower, South Tower, North Valley Complex, and Detention Records.

Throughout her distinguished career, she has demonstrated exceptional leadership, dedication to public safety, and a commitment to operational excellence. Her extensive experience and leadership reflect a longstanding commitment to organizational effectiveness, professional development, and the safety and security of the community and those entrusted to the department’s care.

Bryan Peterson

Assistant Sheriff
Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department

Bryan Peterson serves as an Assistant Sheriff with the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department. He began his law enforcement career with LVMPD in 1999, serving in a wide range of operational and leadership assignments including Patrol, Field Training Officer, Investigations, and SWAT. In 2015, he entered the promotional process to Sergeant and held multiple leadership roles before retiring in 2017. Following his retirement, he joined the Ultimate Fighting Championship as Vice President of Executive Security and Security Operations, where he worked closely with UFC President Dana White, overseeing executive protection and leading global security operations for one of the world's most visible sports organizations.

In January 2023, he returned to LVMPD under the leadership of Sheriff Kevin McMahill as Commander of SWAT and K9. He was promoted to Deputy Chief in August 2024 during a departmental reorganization that established the Tactical Operations Division, overseeing many of the department's most complex and high-liability units. Recently promoted to Assistant Sheriff, he now oversees the Patrol Division. Throughout his career, Bryan has remained committed to adding value to others, developing leaders at every level, and building a culture of accountability, trust, and continuous improvement to ensure the long-term success of the organization and the communities it serves.

Harrison Porter

Chairman
Las Vegas Police Managers and Supervisors Association

Harrison Porter moved to Las Vegas with his family in 1994 and was raised in the northwest part of the Valley. He graduated from Cimarron-Memorial High School in 2005 before relocating to Phoenix, Arizona to pursue a bachelor's degree in Hotel and Restaurant Management. After earning his degree in 2008, Porter elected to pursue his lifelong aspiration of becoming a law enforcement officer. He began the application and testing process with several law enforcement agencies throughout Arizona, as well as the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (LVMPD).

In June 2009, at the age of 21, Porter entered the LVMPD Police Academy, beginning his career in public service in the community where he was raised. Upon graduating from the academy, he was assigned to the Northeast Area Command (NEAC), where he spent six years serving as a patrol officer. He became a Field Training Officer (FTO) working at NEAC, Convention Center Area Command (CCAC), and Bolden Area Command (BAC).

In 2016, Porter successfully completed the promotional examination process and was promoted to the rank of sergeant, returning to NEAC on the graveyard shift. From 2017 through 2021, he served in patrol operations and as a Field Training and Evaluation Program (FTEP) Sergeant, providing leadership, mentorship, and professional development to officers entering the department. In 2021, he transferred to South Central Patrol Investigations, further expanding his operational and supervisory experience.

In 2022, Porter successfully completed the Lieutenant promotional examination process and was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant in January 2023. Following his promotion, he returned to NEAC, where he served as the graveyard shift lieutenant and periodically assumed the responsibilities of Watch Commander.

Association Leadership and Advocacy

Porter's commitment to public service extends beyond his operational responsibilities with LVMPD. In October 2021, while serving as a sergeant, he was elected to the Board of Directors of the Las Vegas Police Managers and Supervisors Association (LVPMSA) as a Sergeant Representative. He served in that capacity until his promotion to lieutenant required him to vacate the position.

In September 2023, the LVPMSA Board of Directors appointed Porter as Vice Chairman of the Association. He was subsequently reelected in 2025, reflecting the continued confidence of the Association's membership in his leadership and advocacy. In 2026, he was appointed by the Board of Directors to serve as Chairman for the remainder of the existing term.

Throughout his tenure with LVPMSA, Lieutenant Porter has been actively involved in legislative advocacy, collective bargaining, employee representation, and the protection of the rights and interests of law enforcement supervisors and managers.

Serving as the Association's lobbyist during the 2025 Nevada Legislative Session, Porter spent considerable time in Carson City advocating for legislation benefiting Nevada's law enforcement professionals. His efforts contributed to the successful passage of Senate Bill 298 (SB 298), which strengthened provisions of Nevada Revised Statutes Chapter 289, commonly known as the Peace Officers' Bill of Rights.

During the 2025 Nevada Special Legislative Session, Porter collaborated with the Nevada Fire Fighters Association and the Public Safety Alliance of Nevada to advocate for the passage of Senate Bill 7 (SB 7). This legislation addressed critical heart and lung disease presumptions for Nevada's first responders following a Nevada Supreme Court decision that significantly altered the interpretation of existing statutory protections. Both SB 298 and SB 7 were ultimately signed into law by Nevada Governor Joe Lombardo.

In his leadership roles as Vice Chairman and Chairman, Lieutenant Porter has personally represented numerous Association members in employment-related matters, advocating for due process, fair treatment, and the protection of collectively bargained rights. He has also served as the Association's lead negotiator, successfully guiding negotiations for the 2025 and 2026 collective bargaining agreements and leading preparations for the 2027 contract negotiations.

Continuing Commitment

Throughout his law enforcement career and Association leadership, Lieutenant Porter has demonstrated a commitment to public service, organizational leadership, and advocacy for the men and women who serve the Las Vegas community. As Chairman of LVPMSA, he remains focused on strengthening labor-management relationships, protecting the rights of Association members, advancing legislative priorities, and ensuring that law enforcement supervisors and managers have a strong and effective voice in matters affecting their profession.

Jamie Prosser

Retired Assistant Sheriff
Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department

Retired Assistant Sheriff Jamie Prosser holds a bachelor’s degree in psychology and was employed with the LVMPD for more than two decades.

After four years on the department, Prosser became a detective assigned to the Robbery Section. She was promoted to Sergeant in 2011 and was assigned to Southeast Area Command prior to transferring to the Internal Affairs Bureau. In October 2013, she was selected to supervise the completion of the nationally recognized Collaborative Reform Process, serving as a liaison between the Center for Naval Analysis and the LVMPD.

When she was promoted to Lieutenant in July 2015, she was assigned to Bolden Area Command. Following her assignment in patrol, she transferred to the Counter Terrorism Section. She was selected by the Sheriff to oversee the Criminal Intelligence Section.

Upon promoting to Captain, Prosser was assigned to the Internal Oversight and Constitutional Policing Bureau. She was transferred to Northeast Area Command in 2019 just prior to the pandemic.

In November of 2021, she was appointed as Deputy Chief of the Professional Standards Division prior to being transferred as Deputy Chief of the Homeland Security and Special Operations Division. Prosser was appointed to Assistant Sheriff of the Law Enforcement Operations Group in July of 2023. In addition to overseeing all law enforcement operations, she sat on numerous boards on behalf of the department.

Prosser retired in November of 2024 to spend more time with family.

Gary G. Schofield

United States Marshal
District of Nevada

Gary G. Schofield was nominated by President Donald J. Trump to serve as the United States Marshal for the District of Nevada. He was sworn in on April 27, 2018.

Marshal Schofield leads the operations of the U.S. Marshals Service in Nevada. Additionally, he serves on the Nevada Joint Terrorism Task Force Executive Board, the High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area Executive Board, and the Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force executive board.

Prior to being appointed, Schofield served at the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (LVMPD) as a Deputy Chief of Police. As Deputy Chief, he led major divisions of the agency that covered all facets of operations and administration at the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department composed of over 6,000 employees. He implemented the training and accountability portions of the Department of Justice Collaborative Reform Process. The reform process implemented major reforms in the Use of Force and reduced the amount of deadly force by officers of the agency. As a result, he was asked to testify at the President’s Commission on 21st Century policing on the need for effective police and community efforts as well as the need for effective leadership and training programs.

Upon graduation from high school in 1980 he joined the United States Air Force (USAF) and started his law enforcement career in the United States Air Force Security Police. His duty assignments included units in North Dakota, Texas, Greenland, South Carolina, and Nevada. During his service he led teams protecting U.S. Military personnel and commanded the United States Air Force Emergency Services Teams (SWAT). He transferred to the United States Air Force Reserves in 1985 and joined the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department. In 1990, he was recalled to active duty in the United States Air Force for Desert Storm and returned to the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department upon its conclusion.

Marshal Schofield has served on multiple community boards. He is a former member of the Board of Directors of the Red Cross of Southern Nevada, the former Vice Chair of the Sunrise Manor Town Board, and was a member of the Southern Nevada Regional Planning Coalition Committee on Homelessness. He also served on the State of Nevada Police Officers Standards and Training Commission as one of the commissioners appointed by Governor Sandoval.

Marshal Schofield holds an Associate degree in Criminal Justice from the Community College of the United States Air Force, a Bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice from Thomas Edison University, and a Master's degree in Administration of Criminal Justice from the University of Alaska at Fairbanks.

Jim Seebock

Henderson City Councilman and Retired LVMPD Assistant Sheriff

Jim Seebock is a retired Assistant Sheriff with the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department, where he served for 30 years in a wide range of operational, investigative, and executive leadership assignments. Throughout his career, he held positions including Patrol Officer, Narcotics Detective, K9 Handler, Sergeant, Lieutenant, Captain, Deputy Chief, and Assistant Sheriff. His leadership assignments included overseeing SWAT, the Southern Nevada Counter Terrorism Center, and various patrol commands. As an executive, he oversaw Community Policing, Homeland Security, and Detention Services, providing him with extensive experience leading large, complex organizations through operational and organizational challenges.

Following his retirement from law enforcement, Jim continued his commitment to public service and leadership. In 2023, he was elected to the Henderson City Council and was reelected in 2024. He currently serves on several regional boards addressing transportation, public safety, housing, flood control, and public health. His career has provided him with a unique perspective on leadership across both law enforcement and local government.

Throughout his career, Jim has been passionate about developing leaders, strengthening organizational culture, and building high-performing teams. His leadership philosophy emphasizes the importance of balancing results with relationships, creating a culture of accountability, and recognizing that an organization's greatest asset is its people. He believes effective leadership is not defined by rank or position, but by the ability to positively influence others and shape the future of an organization.
